Article 1

The Study and Examination Regulations of the University of Pardubice are amended as follows:

1. The following new Article 22, including its heading, is inserted after Article 21:

„Article 22

Transfers between Degree Programmes at the University

- (1) Pursuant to Section 54b of the Higher Education Act, a student or a person whose studies have been interrupted may apply for permission to transfer from an initial degree programme to a continuing degree programme.
- (2) Transfers between degree programmes are permitted only within the same faculty.
- (3) A transfer also includes a change from full-time to combined mode of study or vice versa.
- (4) A change of specialisation within the same degree programme does not constitute a transfer.
- (5) An application for permission to transfer is decided by the Dean of the faculty delivering the continuing degree programme. The Dean may permit a transfer between degree programmes within the faculty where the faculty's staffing and capacity permit.
- (6) Where the Dean grants an application for permission to transfer, the Dean also decides ex officio on the recognition of any part of the studies, examinations or other study requirements completed or fulfilled by the student or person whose studies have been interrupted in the initial degree programme, and on their placement in the appropriate semester, year or study block of the continuing degree programme.
- (7) Where meeting health requirements is a condition for admission to the continuing degree programme, that condition also applies to a transfer to that programme.
- (8) Where the related nature of the degree programmes pursuant to Section 49(1) of the Higher Education Act is a condition for admission to the continuing degree programme, that condition also applies to a transfer to that programme.
- (9) From the date of enrolment in the continuing degree programme, the period of study in the initial degree programme is deemed to be a period of study in the continuing degree programme.”
